

TUSCAN DREAM VACATION

The Car-Free Packing List

Eight days in Florence and Tuscany, one suitcase, zero regrets

Nobody tells you about the shoes. They tell you about the food and the wine, all of it true and wonderful, and then leave out the part where you spend your third morning hobbling between masterpieces because you trusted your city sneakers. Tuscany is a very beautiful obstacle course made of stone. Pack for the stone, keep the bag light enough to carry up a hotel stair yourself, and everything else is a detail.

1

On Your Feet

Walking shoes already broken in · a second pair in case the first gets soaked · one dressier pair that can still handle cobblestones.

2

The One Bag

A carry-on you can lift up a stair unassisted · a soft day bag that folds flat for the towns · packing cubes, so the one luggage move stays sane.

3

Layers for the Stone

Light layers to peel through a warm afternoon · one rain layer that packs to nothing · a shawl or scarf for church shoulders and cool evenings.

4

Documents & Money

Passport, plus a photo of it stored separately · one card that works abroad, one as backup · a little cash for the bus and the small caffè · reservation times, saved offline.

5

The Day Bag, Every Morning

Refillable water bottle · portable charger and cable · sunscreen and a hat for the open piazzas · a small snack for the gap between sights.

6

Easy to Forget

Plug adapter for Italy (Type F/L) · medication in its original box · blister plasters, before you need them · a tote for the market and the wine you'll carry home.
